2. Select a numerical variable, and using R, obtain basic descriptive statistics for that variable: mean, standard deviation, median, minimum value, maximum value, range, 25th, 50th and 75th quantiles.

3. Save each value as an object and use them to create a table.

ship_min = 1.07
ship_25q = 209.83
ship_median = 258.90
ship_75q = 272.38
ship_max = 351.07
ship_sd = 923.63
```

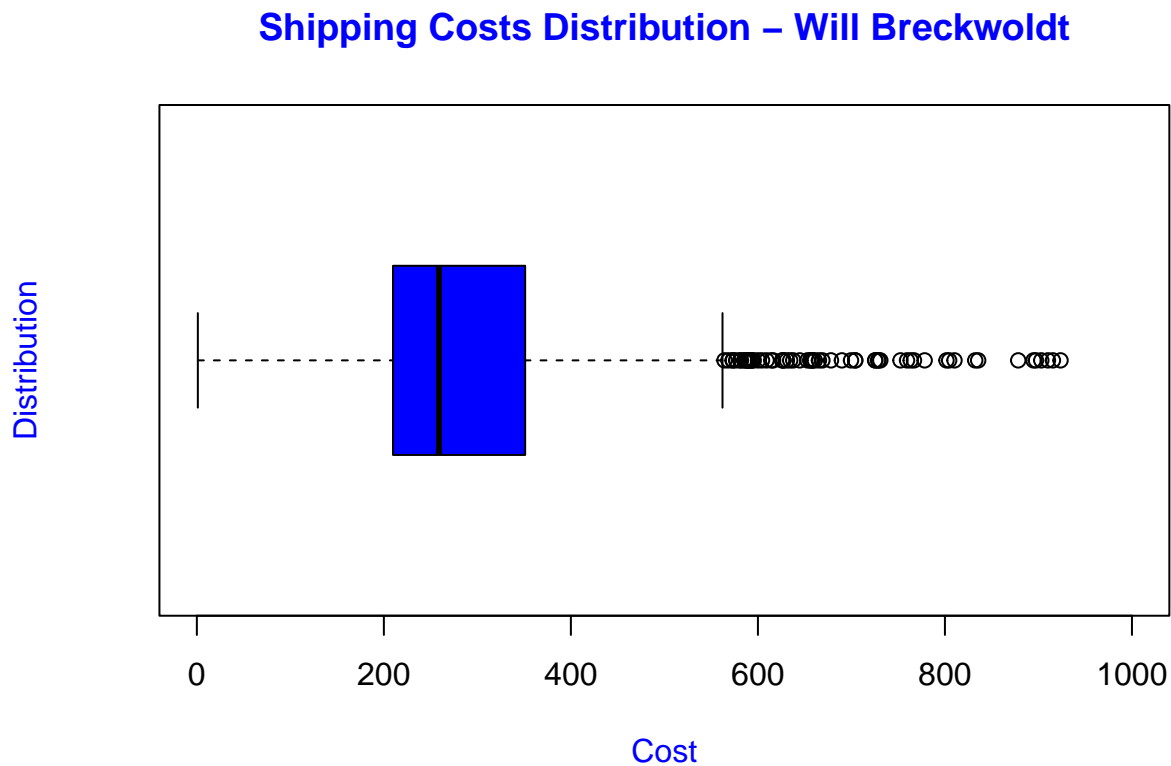

4. Present the codes and table on your Discussion as JPG images.
5. Using R, prepare one box plot to display the data distribution of that numerical variable in regard to a categorical variable of your choice.

boxplot(DB2_table$ShippingCost)
```

6. Provide labels (title, x-axis label, y-axis label), colors, change ylim on the box plot, etc. Make sure your figure look good.

boxplot(DB2_table$ShippingCost, horizontal = TRUE, main = "Shipping Costs Distribution - Will Breckwoldt", col.main = "blue", xlab = "Cost",
        ylab = "Distribution",
        col.lab="blue",
        ylim= c(0, 1000),
        col = "blue"
)
```

```
jpeg("Shipping Costs Distribution.jpeg", quality = 100)

7. Present the codes and box plot.

IMPORTANT: The titles of your figures MUST contain your name and last name. This must be done using the corresponding R code.

Save the table and box plot on your computer as JPG files, then upload them into your discussion using the Insert Image option.
